

6 HEALTHY HABITS OF MIND FOR RESIDENTS

Advocacy

- Views education with an equity lens
- Speaks out and stands up for what is best for students and parents
- Lead with inclusivity
- Advocates for strong researched based instructional practices in education

Asset Based Thinking

- Views students and parents through the lens of the strengths they bring Maintains a growth mindset Willing to take risks
- Willing to take risk
- Growth mindset is practiced and modeled

Persistence

- Approaches dilemmas with relentlessness and resourcefulness
- Solution oriented
- Strives for precision and knowledge of content
- Delivers well-planned and accurate instruction

Collaborative

- Collaborates with colleagues to strengthen instructional practices
- Engages parent, colleagues, and students as partners
- Fosters a collaborative learning environment in classroom setting
- Participates in democratic decision making at the school site

Inquiry

- Ask thought provoking questions
- Use the 5 E's-Engage, Explore, Explain, Elaborate, Evaluate
- Reflect on instruction daily
- Use research and data to inform instructional practices

Communication

- Keep open lines of communication with district and university personal
- Communicates thoughts, ideas, needs for continued growth
- Open minded

THE RESIDENCY LAB

